What is a question group ?

A question group is required for any survey, and it simply adds a logical grouping to your questions . For instance, you can create a group to keep all household income related questions and create another group with the questions related to client's personal identifier information.

So, I need to create a question group first and then create questions with in that group ?

Yes.

What if I have few general questions, not necessarily belong to any specific logical group ?

You still need to keep them in a question group, for instance create a "general question group" and then add those questions to that group.

What is a survey section?

A survey is comprised of one or more sections. Once the responses are captured from client, scores are calculated for each section. Each section carries weight and helps in determining the housing eligibility for the client. At least, one survey section is mandatory for a survey.

I am creating questions, but where do I set up picklist values / responses ?

Picklist values or responses for a question are part of the question itself. While creating a question, you provide the possible responses / picklist values for the question.
